I watched a TV program about Tehran in BBC Knowledge channel yesterday and it gave me idea to make an Iranian banknote to be added to World Currency category on Paper Replika. That TV program was a re-re-run :) I already watch it several times but I never watch closely from the start to finish, although it was only the first part of the documentary. It covered about Iranian culture in a big city like Tehran, so many new understanding I got from watching that program. They are not so strict that I've imagine, for example in one Iranian shopping mall, youth hang out with western style clothing, inline skating in the street, wearing nose ring etc. Girls wear lose hijab, and they talk Parsi not Arabic as I thought before. Look like youth in Iran specially in Tehran not so different at all from some countries in the world, off course in some way.
